

HH Series panels can drop into a suspended ceiling grid as shown above. The frame will be partially visible but fixing holes are hidden by the suspended ceiling frame.

Because they come with a three-point plug attached it is advisable to connect electrically using simple three point sockets as junctions. This provides for ease of removal for future reconfiguring of the room or re-positioning of the panels elsewhere.

IMPORTANT

Securing in compliance with the relevant building code is the responsibility of the installer.